Attention: Immediate

DUBLIN, IRELAND – December 12th, 2005

UpRight International announces its decision to formally withdraw from the large self propelled boom lift market.

This decision was made after extensive market research and is part of a corporate strategy to concentrate the Company's resources and effort in strengthening the small and medium aerial work platform segment and the alloy scaffold systems. The decision does not effect the popular AB38 articulating boom which will continue to be offered by the Company.

The Company will continue to invest in product support for the boom range in order to provide assistance to all the customers that have UpRight Boom Lifts.
